Why Us?

Individual Attention

Every agent should make you feel important whether you are a 1st Round Draft Pick or an undrafted priority free agent. Each client deserves as much attention as any other client. Smart Consulting Agency guarantees that each client will not be passed off to someone else once signed. Our certified agent deals with each client personally. We believe that both parties, the agent and the player, should be as informed about each other as possible.

Pro Team Connections

No agent can get you drafted; only your performance on the field can do that. An agent’s job is to keep your name in front of all professional teams to give you the most possible opportunities. Smart Consulting Agency has contacts in the scouting and personnel department of every NFL, CFL, and AFL team. We have spent years developing these relationships and continue to contact them throughout the year to help our athletes.

Other Opportunities

Compensation on the field is not the only way for an athlete to earn money. Each athlete has the potential to earn money through other avenues. Players can receive additional revenue streams through appearances and advertising. At Smart Consulting Agency, we have a team who has spent their professional careers in marketing and advertising. By understanding the strengths and personality of each of client, we can make a plan work for them.

Post-Football Career

One of the hardest transitions for any player is the one after their playing career is over. All players will spend more time off the field in their adult working years than on it. Smart Consulting Agency has experience in non-profit organizations, local community involvement, local and national political campaigning, and other business areas. We will work to find the best opportunity for each one of our clients.
